

The Ukrainian Greek Catholic Church and the Soviet State (1939-1950). By Bohdan R. Bociurkiw. Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies Press (University of Toronto). 310 pp. $39.95.

Now that the Soviet archives are opening up, much new light is thrown on the struggle of Christians under the Communist regime. This scholarly volume by a distinguished expert on Eastern Europe at Carleton University, Ottawa, will no doubt become an essential reference for understanding the complicated relationship between Ukrainian Christianity and the Kremlin under Stalin's brutal repression.
