CHAPTER I: PROLOGUE (1794-1900)
A brief review of the beginnings of the Russian Mission in North America; the establishment of a Diocesan See in Sitka, Alaska; the growth of North American Diocese on the East Coast of U.S. due to immigration and the return of considerable numbers of Uniates to Orthodoxy	14
CHAPTER II: AN INITIAL UNITY — WITH A VISION (1900-1918)
The fruitful labors of Abp Tikhon and his “vision” of the future of Orthodoxy in America in his Pre-Sobor Commission Report; the hierarchical service of Abp Platon; the participation of delegation from N. A. Diocese in All-Russian Sobor of 1917	24
CHAPTER III: A DISUNITY BORDERING ON CHAOS (1918-1943)
Abp Evdokim’s difficulties; the Pittsburgh and Detroit Sobors, the appointment of Metr. Platon, the legal success of Living Church Abp Kedrovsky, the Karlovits Synod claims jurisdiction in America; the attempted establishment of an American Orthodox Church by Metr. Platon and Abp Aftimios; Bp Benjamin is appointed Head of Church in America, replacing Metr. Platon; Cleveland Sobor elects Abp Theophilus following death of Metr. Platon	29
CHAPTER IV: A SEMBLANCE OF UNITY (1943-1960)
The establishment of the Federation of Orthodox Greek Catholic Churches in America on the initiative of the representatives of the Moscow and Antiochian Patriarchates; the famous Cleveland Sobor of 1946; the appointment of Abp Makary as new Exarch replacing Metr. Benjamin; Patriarchate wins use of St. Nicholas Cathedral in Supreme Court of U.S.; Abp Leonty succeeds Metr. Theophilus as Head of Metropolia	47
CHAPTER V: A “CONSULTATIVE” UNITY (1960-1970)
The establishment of the Standing Conference of Canonical Orthodox Bishops of the Americas on the initiative of the Constantinopolitan Patriarchate’s Exarch, Abp Iakovos; the failure of the attempt to turn the Standing Conference into a “Provisional Synod” with Abp Iakovos as Chairman of the Synod	61

CHAPTER VI: AUTOCEPHALY 1970

The establishment of the Autocephalous Orthodox Church in America; recognition of the 15th Autocephalous Church of Orthodoxy by Churches of Bulgaria, Georgia, Poland, and Czechoslovakia; opposition to Autocephaly by Patriarch Athenagoras while other Orthodox authorities adopt a "wait and see" attitude; Abp Iakovos is named "Patriarchal Exarch Extraordinary" by Holy Synod in Istanbul
